CROP CONDITIONS

And Some of the Promises -- They are Beginning to Want Moisture. The Chronicle yesterday had a talk with a gentleman who takes great interest in the growing crops, and who notes their prospects, promises and needs and general conditions. Speaking particularly of cotton, he said that the crop was two weeks earlier than ever before, and that in this section it was the very best ever known. It is now blooming and fruiting luxuri- his acceptance and will come to Wake ously and profusely, and promises a Forest with his family the last week in phenomenal yield. It is in its critical August. period, and all it needs for the next three or four weeks is good seasons. Just now it is beginning to get thirsty, and is needing rain. Just one good, easy rain each week will keep them in the gloriously good condition they are in now, and will bring them up to a perfection in yield both as to quality and Weat quantity. The next three weeks will decide, therefore, whether or not this section of country shall have the greatest and grandest cotton harvest it has ever known.

Died.

The CHRONICLE records with regret the death of Mrs. Narcissa Allen, wife of Mr. Sol. J. Allen, one of Wake county's most valued and esteemed citizens. Mrs. Allen died on July 3rd, 1890, at the residence of her husband in Oak Grove township. She was sixty two years old.
